Teacher of the Year

GREENVILLE COUNTY TEACHER OF THE YEAR

With Rotary's focus on education, one of the most meaningful programs that we can support is Greenville County School's Teacher of the Year. Educators may invent the most innovative scholastic programs, but they are meaningless without the classroom teacher's execution. This year's winners of our Teacher of the Year program represent how much our educational system has progressed in recent years.

Three of our finalists are a veteran kindergarten teacher, a guidance counselor and a high school special education teacher. Most people understand the importance of early childhood education, but it has only been recently that our schools have been able to fund full day kindergarten. Many emotional and physical issues affect children's ability to learn so guidance counselors play a critical role in preparing students to learn - from relieving anxiety to providing food and clothing for students in need. Most would agree that it would be challenging to deal with 15 year old adolescents each day, but our first runner-up embraces her emotionally disabled students with love and support while helping her students find their path in life.

Our Teacher of the Year's classroom further displays the experiments that schools are using to reach students. She teaches in a room that has both first and second graders with two teachers. She has found ways to use her passions to make learning fun for her students. She writes songs about the subject matter she teaches. Her students have excelled academically and they have developed outstanding voices.

Each teacher will share their incredible story on how they were drawn to work with children. All Rotarians will be impressed. This is a meeting you will not want to miss!

Join us in Haiti.

February 7 to 11

The proposed trip to Haiti is from the 7th of February until the 11th. February. The schedule will be similar to the one we followed last year.

For those wishing to participate, it will be necessary to arrive in Port au Prince on Tuesday before 3 pm to have transportation before dark. Flights from GSP through Charlotte (American) and Delta through Atlanta. Bookings should be done early.

On Tuesday evening we will attend the Rotary Club of Pietonville meeting and stay in a Hotel in P a P.

The club of Pietonville is being asked to be the host club for a Global Grant for the Goat breeding program at the farm in Lacheteau.

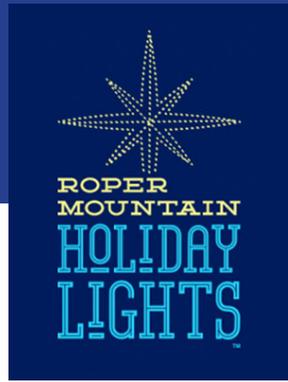

We will travel to the central plateau on the Wednesday morning and spend Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday visiting various sites including the Vocational school, three farms, and go to sites where PIA has the Family Security program in place. (There will be some hiking to the mountain areas) where coffee is grown along with Mangoes and other fruit and nut trees.

On these visits they will see real poverty and the efforts to provide the residents with knowledge, tools, seeds and other ingredients to grow food on small plots. On Thursday evening we will attend the meeting of the local Rotary Club of Mirebalais.

We will depart P a P early Saturday to return to the USA.

Holiday Lights

Holiday Lights brighten path to Greenville teen's future

Reprinted from the Greenville News

The Roper Mountain Holiday Lights have done more than brighten Garrett Hawk's Christmas over the years. They've lit the path to what he sees as his life's work.

A recent high school graduate, Hawk plans to study technical theater — working the lights behind the scenes of plays and concerts.

His inspiration stems from his family's tradition of attending the Roper Mountain Holiday Lights, a nonprofit holiday lights event in the Upstate that benefits education and local charities.

Hawk recalls being as young as five and going to see the myriad displays ground lighting and Santa's Winter Wonderland.

He became a volunteer for the event, which is a mega-project of the Rotary Club of Greenville when he was 8.

A 10-year volunteer now, Hawk said he's never taken a year off.

"Not only do I love the lights here, but it's got some sentimental value to it," he said. "These are my babies. I have shaped my life around Roper Mountain Holiday Lights just because it's what I've grown up with and I just love it."

In 2013, the Rotary Club of Greenville honored Hawk with a Paul Harris Fellow Award from Rotary International in recognition of his "dedication to this iconic community service project."

Hawk was born in West Virginia but moved to Greenville when he was a toddler.

Greenville is home, he said, and Christmas is his favorite time of the year.

"I live, eat and breathe Christmas," he said.

Hawk said a reason he loves working with the Holiday Lights event is because "I am a very hands-on person. I love putting stuff together, taking it apart and seeing how it works."

He got the opportunity to do that as a child, helping his grandmother decorate her church and her home for Christmas.

And, throughout his middle and high school life, Hawk said he's been someone teachers could call on if they needed technical help with such things as Promethean boards.

"They would find out what class I was in and call me to come fix whatever was wrong," he said. "And I've also done the sound and lights at Eastside all four years. I also do sound and lights at my church."

These days, Hawk said he manages the set-up and take down of the displays for the Holiday Lights. When repairs are needed, he does that too.

"We start putting things together in August, but we're here year-round," said Hawk, who works as a custodian for Greenville County Schools. "It's a 12-month project."

Hawk is among the few people who knows all the hard work that goes into putting together the event.

"As a Holiday Lights veteran, he's part of the tribal knowledge base that's been passed on from generation to generation over a 25-year run. He knows the displays, he knows the mountain and he knows all the processes of making Holiday Lights happen," one Rotary member has said about Hawk.

"I have the whole mountain memorized. If there are some bulbs out or not the right color, I'll change them," he said.

There are 72 displays on the mile-long Holiday Lights route. The event's most iconic display, besides the star, is Frosty the Snowman, Hawk said.

"He's about 600 pounds when he's all put together. He's so big, tall and heavy that we have to stand him up vertically with a lift," he said.

Getting Frosty and the other displays set-up and ready for the 5,000 to 6,000 cars that visit each year is "hard work," he said.

It takes Hawk an hour to turn on all the lights. There are 42 breaker boxes.

Hawk said his efforts are rewarded by the smiles on the faces of children when they see the show.

Another payoff is seeing how the proceeds are distributed.

"That's one thing I personally like about Holiday Lights — you can see all the proceeds here in Greenville County," he said. "I just love seeing what our money does in the community because that's a big part."

Hawk has no plans to abandon his work with the Holiday Lights event. He also hesitates to abandon the displays themselves when they retire.

Hawk said he has a few of the old Holiday Lights displays set up outside his home, in addition to 40 inflatables and a little more than 7,000 lights.

While his family has enjoyed Holiday Lights over the years, they've not been as enamored as Hawk, who said he can't imagine a season without it.

He still drives through the event occasionally, he said. But "I've worn them out."

Rotary Foundation named the world's outstanding foundation for 2016

BY AMELIA NELSON
7750 Polio Chair

Our Rotary Foundation was named the world's outstanding foundation for 2016 by the Association of Fundraising Professionals.

The judges cited PolioPlus as a major driver for its selection. That includes YOU—your generosity to helping eradicate polio is an important part of our Foundation receiving this honor.

As you know, this is our Centennial year-long celebration of the Foundation. Every Rotary club is asked by RI President John Germ to set a goal of at least $2,650, a higher goal than usual in honor of the centennial and the need world-wide.

Global Polio Eradication Initiative (GPEI), of which Rotary is a Partner, is working on strengthening surveillance and immunization in Africa and East Mediterranean to ensure polio has been eradicated and immunity against the virus improves.

We still hope to complete eradication during 2017 even with the discovery of 4 polio cases in the Borno region of Nigeria. Vaccination activities continue and new innovative technology is being used to ensure workers are getting to areas where vaccinations are most needed. This new technology is a smartphone application called Surrey 123 where consultants report weekly, anywhere in the world, on their activities.

Vaccinations continue to be administered amidst insecurity. WHO, UNICEF and partners reached 1.1 million children with the oral polio vaccine in South Sudan this November. Other places with the poliovirus are in countries where conflict and lack of security make it difficult to reach children.

Because of the volunteers and committed workers, there was only 1 wild poliovirus case reported this past week. The total number for 2016 is 33 compared to 74 in 2015.

DECEMBER POLIO FUNDRAISER:

Give a gift in honor or memory of someone

We have just celebrated Thanksgiving and we have so much for which to be thankful here in our country. Now we are entering the "season of giving". Would you like to know the joy of ending polio? Of helping provide vaccinations to families we will never meet? Of ending the fear of polio?

Then please participate in our DECEMBER POLIO FUNDRAISER. Make a donation in honor of or in memory of a loved one or someone you know who is a post-polio survivor or someone who lost their life to polio.

Let's make this season about others and help finish the eradication of polio. We are [this] close!

To make your donation and receive credit towards your Paul Harris Fellow as well as tax credit, click here to download the form.

More than $57,000 has been given to polio through November in D7750.

We are doing great—we just need to keep this effort on the front burner. The silent auction revenue at the
All Club Conference will also go towards
Polio.—Lance
